

Although it would appear that this technology, would have a large market, please take careful consideration of the effects to the existing Amateur Service.

In many markets, access to ISP via telephone exists.